

1.Sailing Summer Camp $340/week

Our summer sailing camp is a great way for youth to learn the basics of sailing and get more comfortable out on the water. Campers learn in different boats including Optis, where they are the captain of their own boat, and on 420 dinghies, where a skipper and crew sail together. One of the exciting moments of each week is “adventure day” (weather permitting) where campers get to experience sailing as a group on our unique traditional wooden vessels built by The Apprenticeshop.

Everyone is welcome, regardless of experience! We group students based on their skill level, whether this is their first time in a boat or their hundredth. Many of our instructors are teens who have grown up through this program themselves; they are eager to pass on their skills and keep sailing alive!

2.Sailing Racing Clinic camp $340/week

For those who want to compete, come improve your skills through an intense week-long training that culminates in a regatta. During this week you’ll be able to learn all about sailboat racing using our 420 dinghies. You will start the week with a brief introduction to the boat and rigging and take off to sail fast on different race courses in Rockland Harbor. On the last day sailors will test their ability in either Camden Classic Youth Regatta or The Apprenticeshop’s Red Jacket Regatta. These clinics are open to youth ages 14-17, no racing experience required!
